After the most protracted and exciting session ever held, the nominations of Messrs. Barker and Robert Murray as Harbor Masters were confirmed by the unanimous need, the nonnatone of season and the taken ray as Harbor Masters were confirmed by the unanimous vote of the Senate.

The nonnation of Mr. Van Valkenburg was then taken up, when a warm debate is said to have ensued.

The principal opponent of the nomination is said to be Senator Hammond. His opposition is supposed to arise from the fear that after the confirmation of Mr. Van Valkenburg the nomination of Mr. Lounsbury for Port Warden would be rejected. Mr. Lounsbury was formerly an American.

Severe attacks are said to have been made by one republican Senator on the course of Mr. Hammond, who, after being a democrat, abolitionist, whig, Seward whig, Fillmore whig, American, Choctaw or George Law man, and lastly a republican, signalized his admission to the latter party by opposing the nomination of a steadfast republican by a republican decearing any Senator deserving of expulsion who exposed the proceedings of an executive sension.

Petitions were also presented for pro rata, railroad tolls, and personal liberty bills.

The bill to widen Atlantic avenue in Brooklyn was reported favorably.

Mr. Varian, (dem.) from the minority of the Pro Rata Mr. Varian, (dem.) from the minority of the Pro Rata Committee, presented a report against that measure. It sets forth the character of the petitions circulated through the country, showing the incorrectness and unfairness of the figures accompanying those printed petitions, by means of which taxpayers were induced to put their signatures thereto. A clear statement is made, based upon the testimony before the committee, of the destructive character of such legislation upon the commercial prosperity of the State, and of the impracticability of running any line of railroad on the pro-rata principle. The minority believe it to have been made clearly evident that the whole warfare on railway interests is founded in into rest, prejudice or mistake.

Trial of James Hazlett, the Harper's Ferry Conspirator.

Charlestown, Va., Feb. 8, 1860.

The examination of witnesses was resumed. A large amount of testimony was taken, but few new facts were elicited. All the witnesses expressed themselves with confidence as to the identity of the prisoner. Captain Clowe delaide the conversation he had with the prisoner in jail; he had never seen him before; at that time the prisoner stated that he had not heard from his mother since his connection with the suffortunate Harper's Ferry affair; after the prisoner made the statement he seemed to regret it. At four colock the Commonwealth clossed.

THE DEFENCE.

The first witness was Major A. M. Ball. His testimony was regarded as rather ravorable to the prisoner. The testimony for the prosecution pointed out the prisoner as one of the party of four who were stationed as sentiaels before the arsenal. Two of these sentinels were identified as negroes, and one as Coppie, and the other was thought to be Haziett. Major Ball's testimony agrees as to the number of sentinels, but cannot identify Haziett as one of the party, although he was twice escorted home by the man supposed by the State witnesses to be the prisoner. Several other witnesses deposed to having passed Shenandoah street, but did not see the prisoner.

The defence was ably conducted by Messrs. Botts and Green.

To keep pace with the growing wants of Young America, with whom night airs and late hours do not agree, after noon performances or matinees have been instituted—the most popular of which now in the city are the Circus at Niblo's, and the Museum.

The grand equestrian malinee at Niblo's yesterday, drew together a miscellaneous assemblage of the lovers of equestrian sports. Matronly dames, accompanied by numerous small "pledges," ladies of uncertain ages, de prived by unkind fortune of natural protectors, romantic prived by unkind fortune of natural protectors, romantic maids, fast young men, enthusiastic admirere of be suty n art and nature, and gentlemen of elegant leisure, comprise the audience of a Wednesday or Saturday afternoon. Silks, satins and sables predominate, although there is a liberal sprinkling of cheaper fabrics. At the Museum we have a separate and distinct class of frequenters. Gentlemen from the rural districts, whose religious sentiments will not admit of their attending the theatre, have here an opportunity to graffly their dramatic taste in winnessing some great moral play like the "Octoron," which is now on the boards. This play, originally produced at the Winter Garden, has been put upon the stage at four different theatres in this city, and is now drawing crowded houses at the Museum. The audience at the Museum is still more miscellaneous than that at Ni-blo's. Here calico and satinet predominate. A large majority of the frequenters of the Museum of an afternoon are ladies and children, but a numerous corps of genteelly dressed young men are in attendance, who constitute the meelves a committee of examination as the andlence pass out. This is a nuisance which should be abated, but as a large proportion of the audience go to be seen quite as much as to see or hear, perhaps the nuisance will continue one of the features of the afternoon performances at the Museum.

City Politics. COMM T-TRE-VOTE OF THE REFUBLICAM CENTRAL COMM T-TRE-VOTE OF CENSURE ON THE REPD. "LICAN

The Republican Central Committee held a meeting last evening at their rooms, No. 618 Broadway, Paulel D. Conover, Chairman. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary; a slight amendment was made in them, and they were approved. After some slight preliminary business was transacted, Mr. Petitt made a motion to exclude the reporters of the press. There was quite an animated debate upon the motion, and after about twenty minutes talk, for and against, the motion was lost by a large majority. In reply to a question whether there was anything done to amend the Registry law, the Chairman said that the Legislature was ready to make any proper amendments that might be submitted to them. The Republican Central Committee held a meeting las-em. Mr. A. C. Ellis offered the following resolution:-That we strongly condem the action of our State Committee in creering the election of delegates to the National Convention through the instrumentality of a State Convention, instead of the electors of the respective Congressional districts.

The Chairman decided that the resolution was out of order, as it could not affect the action of the State Committee, and that that body had no right to censure a superior one.

mittee, and that that body had no right to the Chair; and rior one.

Mr. ELLS appealed from the decision of the Chair; and it was put to the vote of the Committee, who refused to sustain the Chair, by ayes 16, noes 34.

The original resolution was then put to the house; and after some lengthy and strongly republican speeches, in which the name of Wm. H. Seward figured very complicationsly, were made, and some noisy debates, which occurred to the complete some time, were over, the resolution was lost by the following vote:—ayes 10, noes 42.

The reading of the address by Mr. Goff was dispensed with, and the meeting adjourned.

American Institute Election.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS.

A circular signed by Hamilion Pish and others has been secretly prepared by a few persons ambidious to be re-elected to high positions in the Institute which they have occupied for many jears (with what efficiency the murmurs of the community too well indicate), and, together with an opposition ticket mianamed the Nember's Tecket, issued to the members at the latest moment, in order that its true character might not be exposed. That members who are not conversant with the affairs of the Institute may not be deceived, as intended, a brief statement is necessary.

The recessary of a reform in the management of the institute has been long feit and scknowledged, and the members, having a last been fully aroused, have nominated gantiemen who, if elected, would elevate the character of the Institute, and promote its efficiency and usefulness. Several of those who have controlled the operations of the institute for a long series of years, not having been renominated by the members on the regular ticket, have concocted a ticket, misnamed the Jeanber's Ticket, and effer themselves for re-election. The influential gentemen whose names are appended to their circular never if equented the institute, are unacquainted with the true state of things, and in allowing their names to be used have been followened by personal considerations.

The members will remember that the true Regular Reform Member's Ticket is headed as follows:—
